STEERING & GUIDANCE

This project would not have been possible without the strong guidance of our Steering Committee. In particular, we would like to thank Andrew McCallum of MBIE for his tireless energy in keeping this project on track, while at the same time pushing us forward.

Draft versions of all "Top 200" firms profiled in this document were distributed to those firms for comment, addition or correction. This was done in the form of emails and phone calls. We thank those that helped us in this process for their time and effort. We also thank those that provided them for their photos.

We are grateful for all of the input we have received, but the report is ours and any errors are our own.

Finally, we acknowledge the support of the Ministry of Business, Innovation and Employment (MBIE), New Zealand Trade and Enterprise (NZTE) and the Ministry for Primary Industries (MPI). It is their funding that has made this report possible.

LIMITATIONS

This work is based on secondary market research, analysis of information available (e.g. Statistics NZ), and a range of interviews with industry participants and industry experts. Coriolis have not independently verified this information and make no representation or warranty, express or implied, that such information is accurate or complete. In many cases regional data is incomplete or not available and therefore research includes significant modelling and estimates.

All trade data analysed in all sections of the F&B Information project are calculated and displayed in US$. This is done for a range of reasons:

- It is the currency most used in international trade
- It allows for cross country comparisons (e.g. vs. Denmark)
- It removes the impact of NZD exchange rate variability
- It is more comprehensible to non-NZ audiences (e.g. foreign investors)
- It is the currency in which the United Nations collects and tabulates global trade data

KEY CONTACTS FOR THIS REPORT

Virginia Wilkinson is a Director at Coriolis. Virginia is Coriolis' resident expert on consumer insights and market research. She has over fifteen years of experience in primary sector and food and fast moving consumer goods

Why did the New Zealand government undertake this project?

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF THE FOOD AND BEVERAGE INFORMATION PROJECT?

The project pulls together the available information on the food and beverage industry into one place, in a form which is familiar and useful to business. The reports contain analysis and interpretation of trends and opportunities to materially assist with business strategy and government policy.

The information will be of vital use to businesses, investors, government, and research institutions as the industry expands and diversifies. This industry view will be very useful to government, enabling better dialogue and the opportunity to address issues collectively.

WHAT BENEFIT WILL THIS BRING TO BUSINESSES?

The Project will have many uses for businesses. These include:

- As a base of market intelligence to enable business to be much more targeted in their own market research
- Reviewing and informing offshore market development (including export and investment) strategies
- Assisting in identifying areas of innovation and R&D for the future
- Identifying strategic partners and collaborators
- Enabling a company to benchmark performance with that of its competitors

- Monitoring industry activity
- Gaining a better understanding of their own industry sector
- Identifying internal capability needs or external inputs

HOW WILL GOVERNMENT USE THE REPORTS?

This information will provide much greater insight into the industry, which is useful for a range of policy developments, from regulatory frameworks to investment in science and skills and facilitating access to international markets. In particular, a single source of factual information will enable government agencies to better coordinate their efforts across the system and be more responsive to addressing industry issues.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

GENERAL

New Zealand is a developed, temperate-climate country in the Asia-Pacific region. It is a stable democracy with strong economic freedoms (Index of Economic Freedom #4), excellent investor protection (World Bank #1) and low corruption (Transparency International #1). It is by almost all measures the most attractive investment destination in the temperate zone of the Southern Hemisphere.

FOOD & BEVERAGE

Food and beverage exports are important to New Zealand and the country is a major F&B exporter. The food and beverage industry accounts for 46% of all goods and services exports. Exports are growing strongly and the country's export performance is strong and improving relative to peers.

The country has demonstrated capability in the production of temperate-climate food and beverages. It is the largest exporter in the world of dairy products and lamb and a major exporter of beef, kiwifruit, apples and seafood.

The New Zealand food and beverage industry has a combined revenue of $71.7 billion (2018/19)*. Industry-wide investment has driven scale, efficiencies and the continued development of high value categories.

DRIVERS

The success of New Zealand in temperate foods is built around a natural environment conducive to agriculture. New Zealand – surrounded by the Pacific Ocean – has the light of Spain with the climate of Bordeaux. This climate will also moderate the effects of global warming going forward (relative to large continents).

The country's farmers are highly productive and efficient. The country has no agricultural subsidies and regulation is generally rational and light handed.

New Zealand is a leader in food safety and product traceability. Customers and consumers around the world trust food and beverages produced in New Zealand.

In science, New Zealand spends more than half a billion dollars a year on Agri-food research across a wide range of areas, from fruit genetics to nutraceuticals. The country is also home to four major universities respected globally for their Agri- food research.

OPPORTUNITIES

While New Zealand is a major global F&B exporter, the country has significant untapped capacity to export more. New Zealand is a country the size of Italy with the population of Singapore. However

Italy feeds a domestic population of 60m people and exports twice as much F&B as New Zealand.

New Zealand is a young country still discovering its comparative advantages and new industries continue to emerge. In the past twenty years New Zealand wine, honey, aquaculture and avocados have all emerged from almost nothing into world leading sectors.

New Zealand has attracted investment in F&B manufacturing from around the world. Global leaders have already endorsed New Zealand by investing in manufacturing in the country and about 25% of the F&B manufacturing sector is foreign owned.

New Zealand welcomes new investment and investors will participate in its success.

Second, who has invested in the New Zealand food and beverage industry?

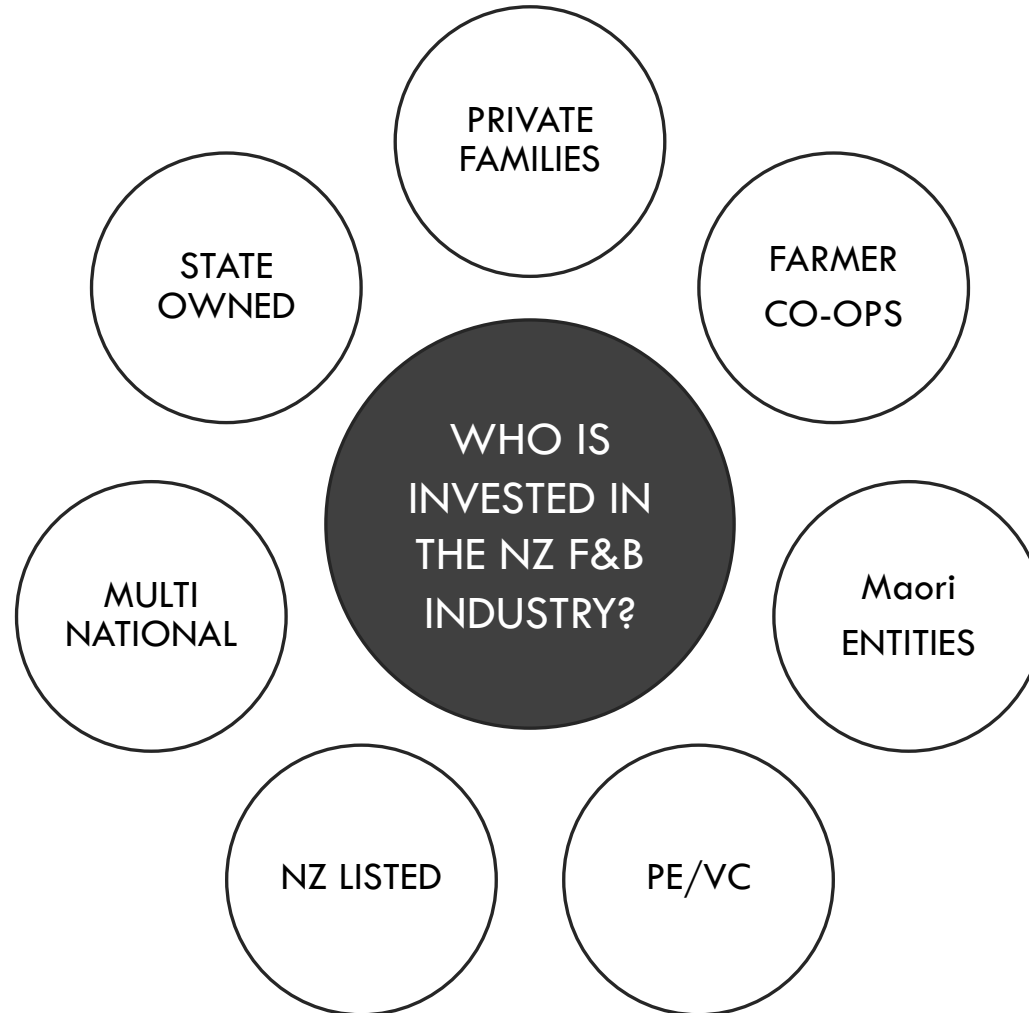

The popular narrative swings between extremes when discussing investment in the New Zealand food and beverage industry

“Foreigners are buying everything!”

In reality, the New Zealand food and beverage industry has attracted an incredible diversity of investors

COMMENTARY

- More New Zealand food and beverage firms were listed on the stock exchange historically; for example...
 - Goodman Fielder
 - AFFCO
 - Tegel
 - Nobilo Wines
 - Open Country Dairy
 - 42 Below
 - Lion Breweries
 - DB Breweries
- Listed New Zealand firms have proven attractive targets for global firms seeking growth in Asia Pacific
- Most mid-size Anglo-European listed food and beverage firms have cornerstone shareholders (e.g. ABF, Kellogg, Kerry, Molson Coors, Hershey, Heineken, Tyson, Carlsberg, Constellation Brands, Hormel, Weston Foods, etc.). Other than Amalgamated and Delegat, New Zealand appears to lack this class of investor
- New Zealand lacks Japanese Style Keiretsu (e.g. Sumitomo) or Chinese-Style SOE (e.g. China Resources/PLA). New Zealand SOE do not participate in export segments due to historical economic policy

NZX/ASX listed NZ firms only cover limited parts of the total industry

New Zealand exports three broad classes of dairy products

INGREDIENT

POWDERS

- "Market maker" in global trade
- Supplier to effectively all packaged dairy firms in Asia, Africa & Middle East
- Pioneer in development of whole milk powders (WMP)
- Deep local knowledge and skills around dairy powders

CASEIN/ LACTOSE SIMILAR

- Casein used in cheese making, protein supplements, paint, glue and a range of other areas
- Lactose used in infant formula, food products, pharmaceuticals and a range of other areas

BUTTER/CHEESE

BUTTER/ FATS

- Strong across butter, ghee and other dairy fats
- Growing in butter-blend spreadables

CHEESE

- Strong position in bulk cheddar/similar
- Rapidly growing in pizza cheeses for foodservice
- Potential for premium, specialty currently underexploited

PROCESSED/PACKAGED

MILK & CULTURED

ICE CREAM

INFANT FORMULA & NUTRI- TIONALS

- NZ historically avoided competition with its own customers; freed-up with deregulation in early 2000s
- Strong growth off a low historical base
- Stellar growth of Infant formula, particularly following melamine crisis in China leveraging global leadership in dairy milk powders
 - Infant/growing-up
 - Diet/weight/body
 - Aging/bone/health
 - Goat Infant Formula pioneered by New Zealand firm DGC; sheep category emerging
 - Growing position in dairy nutritionals (e.g. maternal milk)
- Rapidly growing UHT exports (driven by investment and changing economics)
- Yoghurt a niche into developed Asian city states
- New packaging technologies creating new product/category opportunities

New Zealand has a long history in dairy which has moulded the current industry structure

PIONEER ERA (1814-1923)

Creating

- Dairy cows introduced in 1814 and are suited to climate; industry grows rapidly
- Numerous regional farmer owned dairy co-operatives formed to produce export products
- Over 600 dairy processing factories by 1920
- Industry is lightly regulated and quality is variable
- Widespread product innovation (e.g. Glaxo (GSK) founded in NZ to produce infant milk)
- Early experiments with milk powders

DAIRY BOARD ERA (1923-2001)

Improving

- Industry regulated by government in 1923 to create an orderly market and standardise product quality across processors
- Dairy Board primarily a marketer but with some in-market processing; hundreds of individual dairy processors were suppliers to it
- However, industry consolidation was ongoing through 20th Century until only four large firms remained (driven by fewer, larger factories)
- Board also funded many industry-good activities (e.g. breeding, science funding)
- Numerous improvements to industry systems and technology, particularly in milk powder

INNOVATION ERA (2001+)

Innovating

- Government allows mega-merger of the two largest processors (95% of volume) and the NZ Dairy Board into Fonterra
- Multiple waves of new dairy firms launched across the country
- Range of global investors begin investing in New Zealand dairy production and processing
- Range of innovative new products launched

New Zealand now has a large and robust dairy products industry with a range of participants of all sizes

New Zealand exports four broad classes of fresh produce

- Native to China, but developed and commercialised by New Zealand; most global varieties (outside China) developed in NZ
- Industry centered around Bay of Plenty
- Fruit packed in grower controlled packhouses, which are consolidating rapidly
- All NZ kiwifruit exports go through grower-owned Zespri (except to Australia)
- Zespri is ~13x times larger than its nearest competitor globally

- NZ has a strong record in new variety development; NZ-developed Gala and Braeburn now account for 1/6 trees globally (outside China)
- New emerging third generation IP-controlled varieties have high potential for growth, particularly in Asia
- Industry centered around two key regions: Hawke's Bay and Nelson
- Industry consolidating into large scale integrated grower/packer/shippers

- Wide range of growing new fruit building on NZ proven fruit development capabilities
- Avocados strong into Australia; emerging opportunities into the US and Asia
- Cherries growing into a seasonal window into Asia
- Blueberries growing on the back of "superfruit" status and fresh window
- Kiwiberries growing strongly off a low base; not under Zespri control

- Premium/specialty positioning similar to Netherlands ("The Holland of Asia-Pacific")
- Strong in fresh onions
- Glasshouse sector growing
- Butternut squash window to Japan
- Select temperate field crops (peas, etc.) to export and processing

While New Zealand exports a wide range of produce, kiwifruit clearly leads, followed by apples

(Apples 1819-1947; Kiwifruit 1906-1976)

Creating

- Apples and Pears first introduced to NZ in 1819 by Rev Samuel Marsden, who planted trees in Kerikeri, Bay of Islands. By 1835 the trees were flourishing, but yield was often poor due to diseases. 1899 the first trial shipment of apples and pears to the United Kingdom. The Orchard and Garden Pests Act passed in 1903 and the Diseases Act in 1908 led to increased production
- Kiwifruit as a commercial crop were pioneered in New Zealand across the 20th Century. Key pioneer Hayward Wright developed the variety that now dominates global production
- An extensive range of other new varieties were trialed and developed in New Zealand during this era

MARKETING BOARD
(Apples 1948-2001; Kiwifruit 1977-2000)

Improving

- The apple industry was regulated by government under the Apple and Pear Marketing Act 1948, to create an orderly market and standardise product quality across processors. The Board acquired, exported and marketed New Zealand Pipfruit
- In kiwifruit, an export marketing board was created in 1977; the organisation was restructured as Zespri in 2000
- Formation of Hort Research by government (now Plant & Food Research)
- A number of other marketing boards existed, though most fruit and vegetables experience only limited market control

(Apples 2001+; kiwifruit=Zespri)

Innovating

- Since 2001 individual growers have been able to export and market their own pipfruit; however restrictions still remain on kiwifruit
- Ongoing fruit developed and bred at Plant and Food Research (9 new apple cultivars since 1990); commercialised through JV company Prevar
- Global investors begin investing in New Zealand produce production and processing
- Range of innovative new products launched (e.g. Rockit miniature apple)

New Zealand has a large and robust produce industry with a range of participants of various sizes

FRESH PRODUCE HANDLING EMPLOYMENT BY FIRM

Headcount; FY2018/19 or as available

INCLUDES CORIOLIS ESTIMATES

TOTAL = 13,450

COMMENTS/NOTES

Data should be treated with caution as:

1. Many firms have large seasonal workforces (not always captured in this number); employment jumps significantly seasonally (e.g. Seeka 330 FTE + 1,100 seasonally)
2. Some firms have subsidiaries that are classified as farming, such that their employee total will include their farming employees, but the total here excludes farming (thus potentially understating "other")
3. Headcount excludes contract labour (e.g. A052900) as this is not tied to specific industry sectors at source

Therefore the total here may over-or-understate these firms relative importance in sector employment

- Total Industry employment is calculated by Statistics New Zealand from PAYE data and should be seen as the number of PAYE individuals attached to a particular firm and may include double counting (i.e. someone who worked at two firms). Employees of labour contractors are classified elsewhere and not included in this total
- "Other" consists of 381 enterprises with 6,983 employees (average 18 head/enterprise)

While wine is the clear leader, New Zealand produces and exports beverages across all six major product categories

- New Zealand Sauvignon Blanc "owns" the category and is now a "must have"
- Refreshing/summer afternoon positioning to females (vs. reds)
- Emerging in Pinot Noir and other reds
- Strong growth for 30+ years
- Strong and growing market share across Anglo markets
- Growing rapidly in Asia
- Attracting global brand leaders (e.g. LVMH Moët Hennessy Louis Vuitton)

NON-ALCOHOLIC

JUICES

- Building on New Zealand's strength in export fruit, particularly in apples and kiwifruit
- Pioneer of a range of new fruits and fruit varieties

SOFT DRINKS

- Early pioneer in energy drinks ("V")
- Good fit with "Brand NZ" and existing strengths in select fruits

WATER

- Huge hypothetical potential for growth
- Strong fundamentals
- Wide range of pioneers

OTHER ALCOHOL

BEER & CIDER

- Well regarded globally for the quality of its hops
- Benefiting from global shift to craft/specialty
- Leveraging long-term NZ strength in hops and apples

SPIRITS

- Sector in early stages of growth curve
- Emerging sector driven by strong marketing and unique products

COMMENTS/NOTES

- Caution should be taken in interpreting this total as the data will understate size of “other” due to small firms having multiple possible classifications. A simplistic, idealised split of the world into distinct roles does not exist in the actual data collected. As one simple example, a firm that the the average “man on the street” would call “a winery” can be classified as (1) a grape growing operation (A013100), (2) a winery (C121400), (3) a liquor wholesaler (F360600), (4) a restaurant (H451100), (5) a bar (H452000) or (6) a caterer (H451300). Classification is based on the predominant activity of the firm. In addition, firm definitions can change regularly, for example a grape grower can begin making wine. This process is often described as “moving up the value chain”. In this example, only “wineries” are shown here.
